The whole world is our Source of inspiration and we've gathered autumn's and winter's newcomers under three themes, which can all be combined together;

MODERN TRADITION

Whatever place you call your home, we want to be

AFRICAN AESTHETICS

Let us bring the world in to your home. Be inspired by deep earthy nuances and natural, sustainable materials such as rattan, wood and terracotta. African aesthetics give any room a sense of warmth and authenticity. Take in the beautiful craftsmanship and feel the contours of the materials that only become more beautiful as they're used.

“Unique items inspire us and form the foundation of our collections.”

RESPECT, TRUST AND GOOD

RELATIONSHIPS

We continue to be inspired by the pure workmanship and the uniqueness that every place and culture has.

When people come together in unusual ways, new products are formed and Affari of Sweden's community grows. Everything is based on close collaboration with a foundation of respect, trust and good relationships.

THE TRIBE COLLECTION

“Thanks to this handicraft, the women can provide their families a sustainable income.”

The TRIBE collection

The women gathered in the shade of the cooling branches of the tree sing and chat while their hands carefully and methodically weave their creations. Sometimes work is interrupted for a spot of spontaneous dancing, and then activity recommences. The most magical items start to emerge. Each one has a free organic shape, completely unique and made by hand.

“Every craftsman is an artisan - no two trays are the same.”

There is great professional pride and the trays displayed are labelled with the name of the person who wove them. New products find their place amongst existing collections. Everything is woven together into a new whole, in both senses of the word.

Plant dyeing

Baskets and trays are made from the fronds and soft leaves of the ilala palm tree. First the palm leaf is cut off and boiled for a few hours. The dyes used come from plants that are added to the boiling water. The patterns reflect the culture of the region.

For all women

This craft is crucial as a means for all the women in the village to earn an income.

The basket-weaving project supports all women, regardless of their situation. This includes women who have HIV/AIDS or a chronic disease, and also young mothers and married and single women. By weaving baskets and trays the women can provide their families a sustainable income.

FACTS ABOUT THE TRIBE RANGE

- Knowledge and skills are handed down from generation to generation.
- Every village has its own speciality and every person their own artistic expression.
- All dyeing is done naturally using plants.

African rattan is sheer, timeless and durable. Hand-woven furniture made from this fantastic natural material brings a homely feeling to any room.

“The final chair is a mix of traditional techniques and modern design”

The process of making a chair starts with gathering the local materials. Sustainably harvested trees are used for the frame of the chair. Skilled artisans then shape and assemble the wooden frame to ensure that it is stable. Thereafter comes the meticulous weaving of the seat and backrest.

Interior design tips

Use the space behind the sofa for furniture where you can place practical and pretty items.

The TRIBE collection

NORDIC FOREST

This is your style if you want to keep things simple and let nature be part of the interior. Scandinavian forests provide inspiration for the colour pallet with brown, grey and green shades in saturated tones from the soil and bark to the foliage of the coniferous forests. Each item of furniture and detail have been carefully chosen. The look is timeless, but with space for eye-catching features that give the home some personality.

Made in Sweden

We are proud of our tradition and knowledge of hand-made candles. We have our own candle factory where we make our DECO, COTE NORD and some of the EVENT candle series. One hundred percent Swedish craftsmanship.
